

WOMEN JURORS CAUSE STORM OF DISCUSSIONS

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, March 2.—A storm of discussion, both commendation and condemnation, has swept through London newspapers as the result of the innovation of having women serve with men as members of juries in divorce cases.

The first mixed jury to sit in the London divorce court has been unable to agree on a verdict and has been discharged after hearing the case for four days.

In the comment on the proceedings, newspaper editorials and the contributed communications of readers have discussed principally the propriety of obligating women as members of the jury to examine all the evidence submitted.

In this case counsel for one of the parties to the action announced that he had evidence to submit which he did not consider it proper to place before woman jurors. The judge said he was helpless in the matter but ultimately only the men jurors examined the evidence.

Sir Edward Marshall Hall, counsel for one of the parties, said that this was the first case he had ever conducted before a mixed jury and that he hoped he would never have to deal with a case of such a nature again.

It is undeniable that there are many cases in which the assistance of women will be of the greatest value to the court," said Sir Edward, "but there are other cases in which, from the nature of the evidence, much will have to be discussed before there is an unfavorable verdict for the defendant."

George Bernard Shaw, who, writing to the Daily News as a member of the male sex, took issue with the views of the barrister.

"Sir Edward Marshall Hall's assumption that my sensibilities in this matter are less delicate than women is not only unfounded but extremely offensive," wrote Mr. Shaw. "Why in the name of common sense did this blushing barrister exclude six jurymen from the apologetic which he thought it necessary to make for presenting some of the exhibits in the case to the six jurymen?"

TITLED WOMAN NOW RUNNING A SOUP KITCHEN

(By Associated Press)

WARSAW, March 3.—Driven from palace to hotel, some of the members of the aristocracy of old Russia now are peeling potatoes or chopping wood here for a living.

Five thousand men and women and children, some of whose resounding titles once brought them homage of courtiers, are clustered here after having fled to Poland before the bolsheviks. Helping them to help themselves is Madame Ludmilla Lubinoff, herself a refugee, though born a princess of one of the oldest Russian houses and the wife of the former civil governor of Warsaw.

This remarkable woman is conducting soup kitchens, sewing rooms and workshops for members of her unhappy class and taking orders from her are men who once commanded the armed forces of the Russian emperor. On her staff are admirals, generals, governors, mayors and members of the old Petrograd court, while her husband has laid aside his gubernatorial duties to become her secretary.

A beautiful woman, she hides the tragedy of her life under an optimism that is an example to the unhappy folk to whom she ministers. A woman of action, too, for she escaped from Petrograd with her two sons after freeing her husband from the fortress of Peter and Paul and arming him with a fictitious passport that enabled him to flee to Warsaw. Here the family was reunited.

Selling virtually all she possessed to aid her fellow countrymen, Mme. Lubinoff organized the Warsaw branch of the Russian Red Cross, which is being aided by the American organization.

Sparing not herself, Mme. Lubinoff has not spared the colony of refugees which include many of the former nobility of Russia. In the soup kitchen and woodyard which she has established in a Russian orthodox church are working men and women of title at tasks which once servants performed for them.

GIVES VIEWS ON USE OF AIRCRAFT IN FUTURE WARS

(By Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, March 3.—Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz, German naval authority, in an interview recently gave his views on the influence of aircraft upon future wars. He discounted the Zeppelin airship as too much subject to wind and too vulnerable for ordinary reconnaissance. The airplane, in his opinion, has a much greater future as it has an economic importance for traffic which will tend to perfect it for war purposes.

While the airplane has taken a large place in land fighting as a substitute for cavalry, Admiral von Tirpitz said it had not developed its usefulness to the same degree in sea reconnaissance but that was probably due to the weakness of the airplane, which waterplanes of the future might conceivably overcome.

The admiral reserved his opinion on the possibility of offensive attacks by airplanes upon warships but clearly showed that he doubts that the airplanes will become a great menace to warships as he pointed out the latter will develop devices for defense while heavily loaded airplanes will always be in danger of counterattacks from lighter machines.

"In comparison with ships," he said, "airplanes will always have a fundamental advantage in their small loading capacity, especially when they are to be used on a wide expanse of ocean. From a study of the history of naval warfare, the greatest exponent of which was an American, I am persuaded that the nature of naval forces will not change with a jerk but will develop organically, for development takes some time which only in imagination and fantasy can be skipped in this respect. The late war has not effected any fundamental alteration although of course the rate of technical development is much faster than formerly."

KHIVA RULER IS NOW IN PRISON

COPENHAGEN, March 3.—The Khan of Khiva, his prime minister, members of his military staff and dignitaries of his court are imprisoned in Moscow, says a Danish business man who recently arrived here after having been in a Moscow prison for about a month.

The khans of Khiva of which the city of Khiva is capital, is in Russian Turkestan and formerly was an important kingdom of Asia. In 1920 it became virtually subject to Russia, though for a time thereafter it maintained a certain amount of independence.

That the Soviet government of Russia has been active in Turkestan has been indicated by recent wireless messages from Moscow, stating that congress of young bolsheviks was recently held at Tashkent.

AUSTRIA RAISES PRICES OF TOBACCO

(By Associated Press)

VIENNA, March 3.—Prices of tobacco, a government monopoly, will be greatly increased in the effort to secure additional revenue. Cigars will go up from 45 per cent to 225 per cent, according to quality, and cigarettes from 100 per cent to 150 per cent.
